Dear all,

Just a note to say thank you for your assistance with our risk management procedures.

As you know, our work covers working with patients in a range of environments, from the workplace, to home or outdoors. The background information on risk legislation and human factors was very beneficial in putting it all in perspective.

The great risk assessment techniques and management tools you supplied will come in very useful shortly as we begin to integrate your suggestions into our work practices.

Thanks again.

Regards,
